PARIS, BOURBON COUNTY, KENTUCKY, TUESDAY, AUGUST 6, 1918

SATURDAY'S PRIMARY ELECTION ONE-SIDED AFFAIR.

The Democrats of Kentucky rolled up a large majority at the polls Saturday for United States Senator Ollie James and the people of this Congressional district did the same thing for Congressman J. Campbell Cantrell. Regardless of the fact that Senator James had only nominal opposition and spurred on only by a desire to send him a message of good cheer to the sick room at Baltimore, the Democrats did their duty, but at that the vote was a comparatively light one in many localities.

The returns indicate that William Preston Kimball, who was on the ballot, as an opponent of Senator James, received only a small scattering vote, and even in Fayette county, the home of Mr. Kimball, Senator James received an overwhelming majority.

Indications point to Dr. Ben Brunner, of Louisville, as having a slight lead over Judge B. J. Bethurum, of Somerset, for the Republican nomination for United States Senator. The counties heard from are scattering and represent every district in the State. The Republican vote fell far short of that cast in the Democratic race for Senator.

The vote in this county was very light, a total of only about 450 votes being cast. The farmers were busy with their crops, and nobody seemed to care very much about it, anyway. In one precinct in the county there was not a single vote cast, the election officers failing to show up, and the voting booth remained closed all day.

MUST PAY CASH FOR ALL TELEGRAPH MESSAGES.

Running accounts and special favors will hereafter be discontinued by the telegraph offices, according to Governmental instructions received by managers of the Western Union and Postal Telegraph Co. offices in this city. Messages must be paid for when sent and cash must be paid upon presentation of each telegram.

It is hoped that the public will make the necessary changes to suit this condition, and that later changes can be made by which telegrams can be sent without the deposit of the cash payment. Until this can be accomplished it is hoped that the public will consider this as a patriotic move.

All receipts from telegrams and cables and cables transmitted hereafter and received from leased wire rentals, pole attachments, special service, etc., will belong to the Government. Such receipts will be deposited in the bank by the manager and used to pay the expenses. The balance will be remitted, but will be a special remittance, and will be marked "Government."

FARM FOR RENT.

See advertisement in another column of the farm for rent belonging to W. E. Hibler. The place contains 556 acres and is located near Elwalt's Cross Roads. If interested, address Mr. W. E. Hibler, 312 E. High St., Lexington, Ky. (6-tf)

RAPIER'S MEAL THE BEST FEED.

No use to worry about the best feed for your hogs. Rapiers' Pig Meal is acknowledged the best. Ask W. C. Dodson about it. (2-2t)

AUGUST COURT DAY.

There was a fairly good crowd in the city yesterday, despite the sweltering heat and the pressure of necessary work on the farms. Most of the farmers were too busy to leave their work, and those who did come in, transacted their business and returned to their homes early in the afternoon. It was a very "light Court day."

There was not much stock on the market, and trading in all lines was rather dull. Merchants reported a fair volume of business, and collections fair in proportion. The war occupied the center of the stage, with the high cost of living playing a close second.

LOUISVILLE AND NASHVILLE CHANGES.

Mr. L. M. Westerfield, train dispatcher at the L. & N. office in Paris, has been promoted to the position of Rule Examiner for the Cincinnati terminals of the Kentucky and Eastern Kentucky divisions. He will have headquarters in Covington. Mr. Thos. A. McDonald, Messrs. F. Jaynes Savage and Paul J. O'Connell advancing in the order named to fill vacancies caused by these promotions.

PARIS "MISFITS," HEADED WEST, SEND BULLETINS.

A series of post card bulletins has been coming to THE NEWS from the six Bourbon county boys who left Paris on the afternoon of Monday, July 29, for Vancouver Barracks, Washington, where they will enter the Government service. The boys, Ireland "Bit" Davis, Wm. Mitchell, (Captain), Jackie Saloshin, Fred Burgin, Fred Miller and Pearce Beatty, found something very interesting all along the line of their route Westward, to enchain their attention. Their messages were brief, but very expressive, and, as they trailed the continent they sped from place to place cards of greeting to "the folks back home." The bulletins followed in the following forms and in order:

"Chicago, Ill.

"Six 'misfits' representing various branches of life, arrived here to-day en route to the Golden West. We have been given the liberty of Chicago, and the whole town turned out to greet us. Leave-to-morrow in a Pullman special for the tall and uncut timber of the Vancouver region, on the Salmon River, in the State of Washington. Good-bye, for a while. "BIT DAVIS."

"Clinton, Iowa.

"About twelve cars of we 'misfits' left Chicago this a. m. headed West. Some troop train and really good meals we are getting. S. F. S. G.—meaning So Far So Good. Tell Pearce Paton we still have the Holliday's candy, and that Capt. Mitchell is some chauffeur. Regards to all, from the six jolly 'misfits.' We are wondering who will run the dances in Paris now.

"BIT DAVIS."

"Marshalltown, Iowa.

"We are now at Marshalltown, Iowa, and still going West. Some trip, yes. All of us are in Pullmans, and no joking, either. 'Bit' Davis has fallen in love with all the girls from Paris to this place, and still remains unsatisfied. The rest of us seem to be immune. Can expect another card just any time.

"CAPT. MITCHELL."

"Cheyenne, Wyoming."

"Just saw a sign, reading: '451 miles to Omaha, Nebraska.' Now you know we are getting away from home, but you all can 'keep the home fires burning.' All six of us are well and having a fine hot and dirty time. Give our regards to all. We're a long, long way from home, and we can't get back.

"BIT DAVIS."

"Omaha, Neb.

"Passed Omaha about 1:30 this a. m. It seems to be a great deal drier than Lexington, Ky., is at present. We are still headed West, growing fat and saucy. We drill under Capt. Mitchell up and down the aisles of the Pullman, and out on the platforms. Still further and further Westward.

"THE SIX MISFITS."

"Platte City, Nebraska."

"We are now stopping at Buffalo Bill's home town. We are still well and doing well. Sorry Buffalo Bill wasn't able to be here to greet us. American Red Cross Canteen service here saw to comfort of all the boys. Fred Miller feeling 'so chesty' wants to arrange gun fight with lot of Indians at station. Jackie Saloshin has gained one pound in weight. Come to see us at Vancouver.

"FRED BURGIN."

"Ogden, Utah.

"Threatens to be a stampede when this bunch gets into Mormon territory. Hard work restraining Fred Miller and Bit Davis from leaving the train and embracing the Mormon religion, (or the girls, I don't know which.) Still going West, and further away from Kentucky. Feel like cowboys now. Fred Burgin bought an entire outfit, gun and all. Has the new mill dam been built yet?"

"JACKIE SALOSHIN."

"Salt Lake City, Utah.

"Say, this is some place. Wish I had known Brigham Young and some of his daughters. The boys have been having wonderful time. The West is wonderful country. Have the terminals been moved yet?"

"PEARCE BEATTY."

MASTER'S SALE.

Auctioneer M. F. Kenney sold yesterday at the court house door for Master Commissioner O. T. Hinton, the C. F. Daniel property, on South Main street, formerly occupied by T. F. Brannon, to W. P. Fisher, for $4,900.

HELD TO GRAND JURY.

In the County Court Saturday afternoon County Judge George Batterton held Sam Sherman, colored, on $250 bond to appear before the grand jury at the next term of the Bourbon Circuit Court.

Sherman is alleged to have appropriated a check signed by Mr. Jos. M. Hall, also various and sundry other articles belonging to Mr. Hall, and appropriating same to his own use. The check was cashed at a local grocery, and by them sent to their bank in the regular course of business. The check was returned to the groceryman, marked, "Stolen property." Sherman was placed under arrest, and a search of his person revealed the larger part of the money in his pocket. The groceryman made restitution of what was taken from Sherman, but is out six dollars on the deal.

Sherman was employed by Mr. Hall and picked up the check after Mr. Hall had given it to another man. Shortly after an argument over his own pay Sherman struck Mr. Hall a violent blow in the face. After his arrest by Chief of Police Link his truck was searched and over $100 worth of valuables belonging to Mr. Hall was found.

Sherman served a term in the Frankfort Reformatory about twenty years ago, and upon his release went East, returning to Paris a short time ago.

TO THE PATRONS OF THE PARIS GAS & ELECTRIC CO.

We have filed an injunction suit in equity against the City and its officials to prevent the interference with our customers or the enforcement of the ordinances recently passed until their validity can be tested by the Courts and have given bond for the return to the customers of the amount collected in excess of the rate called for in the ordinances. As this bond protects you fully, kindly call at our office as usual and settle your bills.

TO TALK OF OVERSEAS WORK AT THE Y. M. C. A. TO-DAY.

All persons who are interested in the work of the Y. M. C. A. overseas for the soldiers of America and the Allies are asked to attend the meeting to be held at the Bourbon County Y. M. C. A. building to-day, Tuesday, August 6. Secretary Hunt, of the Army Y. M. C. A. at Camp Zachary Taylor, will be in attendance, and will be glad to give any information that will be of benefit to those interested in the work.

The Y. M. C. A. needs a large number of recreational secretaries, truck drivers, and business men with large experience, for canteen work behind the lines in France. Bourbon county will be asked to furnish some of these. Call at the Y. M. C. A. and confer with Secretary Hunt or with Secretary Wilcox.

STOLEN CAR RECOVERED.

The vigilance of the Lexington and Paris police exerted in an effort to apprehend the man who recently stole Dr. Charles G. Daugherty's automobile, has so far not been rewarded. The machine, which had been left standing in front of Dr. Daugherty's residence on Pleasant street a few nights ago, disappeared and was not heard of until Friday night, when the Lexington police department notified the Paris police that it had been located there on a side street, abandoned by the thief or thieves.

Dr. Daugherty seemed so well satisfied to have the car back in his possession again that he has not given much thought to the matter of solving the mystery of who purloined it.

COLUMBIA OIL & GAS CO. BRINGS IN NEW WELLS.

The Columbia Oil & Gas Co. drilled its No. 3 well on the E. S. Moore farm in Lee county, Saturday. The oil rose 700 feet in the hole in a short time after reaching the pay sand. The drillers estimated the well at seventy-five barrels. The Columbia's No. 6 on the same farm was in the pay sand Saturday, and expected completed yesterday. They expect this will be seventy-five barrels also, as the sand and oil indications are the same as No. 3. They will start No. 7 at once.

ELECTRIC LIGHT CO. BRINGS INJUNCTION SUIT AGAINST CITY.

An injunction suit was filed in the office of Circuit Clerk W. H. Webb, Friday, by the Paris Gas & Electric Co., seeking to restrain the Mayor of Paris, E. B. January, and the members of the Paris City Council from interfering with the company in collecting gas and electric light bills according to their scale of prices. The public is pretty well acquainted by this time with the details of the controversy between the City Council and the Paris Gas & Electric Co.

Consulting Engineer W. H. Weiss, who had been employed by the City of Paris in that capacity, recently drew up a new scale of prices, which was given publicity, together with a notice to the consumers to offer payment according to that scale. It further advised that if the Electric Light Co. refused to accept it they should bring their bills to the Mayor's office, where they would be tabulated. Another notice appeared at a later date in another Paris paper, sanctioned by the Paris Gas & Electric Co., advising the consumers to ignore the advice of the city, but to settle their accounts according to the old scale which had been in effect for some time by the company. Soon after this came the filing of the injunction suit against the Mayor and the members of the City Council.

practice is given they every day. They are all well and happy. This is their message sent back home by me.

Mr. Albert Waches will return to West Point this morning after a short furlough to his aunt, Mrs. S. M. Turpin. Mr. Waches is the official saddler for his regiment.

The Bourbon County Board of Exemption has received a call for twenty white draftees to entrain at Rose Polytechnic Institute, in Terre Haute, Ind., spent Sunday in Paris, as a guest of his parents, Dr. and Mrs. George S. Varden, and family. The Institute is being utilized by the Government as a training school for special service in the United States army. Mr. Varden is well pleased with his surroundings, and says Uncle Sam is the best provider ever.

From Ft. Thomas, Ky., to Camp Sherman, O., read the order of transfer for Dr. Avon A. Kiser, of Paris. Mr. Kiser was recently commissioned First Lieutenant in the Medical Reserve Corps. He has been assigned to a place on the Neuro-psychiatric Board of the Base Hospital at Camp Sherman. Lieut. Kiser is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Kiser, of Paris. He has been for some time resident physician at the Longview Hospital, near Cincinnati.

Government moves of troops on the big checkerboard of the war service continue throughout the day and night. Trains bearing troops are of frequent occurrence passing through Paris via the Louisville and Nashville, their destination being some Southern or Eastern cantonment. Friday a train of twelve Pullmans passed here, headed for Camp Perry, Ohio. The train carried three hundred prospective officers for the Officers Training service at Camp Perry.

Mr. Landen Tempkin, of Paris, stationed in the service at Camp Dewey, Great Lakes Naval Training Station, was at home on a five-days' furlough, to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Tempkin. Mr. Tempkin likes the service immensely and says Uncle Sam is the best provider in the world. Quite recently Mr. Tempkin participated in a naval review in which over 30,000 "jackies" took part. He also took part in the formation of a living U. S. flag in which 12,000 sailors made up the Stars and Stripes.

Dr. J. S. Dailey, of Jackson, Ky., a nephew of Dr. M. H. Dailey, of this city, has been commissioned a First Lieutenant in the Dental Corps, and is awaiting orders to be sent overseas for duty in the American Expeditionary Force. Lieut. Dailey is at present stationed at Camp Pike, in Arkansas. He is a graduate of Caldwell High School, at Richmond, and a graduate of the Louisville College of Dentistry. Dr. Dailey is a fine young man, and is very anxious to get into active service.

"Paris and Bourbon county boys are having a strenuous time at Ft. Benj. Harrison," says a Paris man just returned from there. "I saw Jack Turney with a bunch of rookies around him, and I want to tell you that he is certainly

EDITORIAL MUSINGS.

Would Prove Injurious.

The Retail Trade Board of the Boston Chamber of Commerce questioned the wisdom of the proposal of the Council of National Defense to conduct a propaganda to discourage the giving of merchandise as Christmas presents.

Several weeks ago the Council of National Defense suggested, that as a war economy measure, a campaign be conducted against the usual Christmas custom of giving presents. The proposal met with strong protest in all parts of the country, and the merchants are hopeful that the proposal will be abandoned.

In a letter addressed to the Council of National Defense the Retail Trade Board points out that during the past few years Christmas giving has been confined almost entirely to practical and useful things. The stores rarely, if ever, carry any merchandise that is not carried throughout the year. This year, due to the curtailing of production of luxuries and non-essentials, there is every reason to believe that Christmas giving will be confined more closely than ever before to useful merchandise. Under those conditions the merchants of Boston feel that any measure to discourage Christmas giving will not bring results sufficient to compensate the loss of business, and that the effect upon the morale of the people of such a radical change of custom would be injurious.

A Mighty Change of Opinion.

Six years ago last January, Frank M. Hitchcock, Postmaster General in the Cabinet of President Taft, recommended national ownership of all telegraph lines, the New York World recalls. He was promptly repudiated by his superiors and his party, and for a time it was thought that he might be forced to resign his position. His successor in office, Albert S. Burleson, advocated the same policy for five years, meeting nothing but fierce opposition.

Now under the stress of war we find a recommendation by Mr. Burleson, supported by the President, that the government take over the telegraphs and telephones accepted almost everywhere by the people as logical and necessary.

The American people are pledged to win the war at any cost. As they are sacrificing life and treasure to that end, so will they surrender, if need be, many theories and traditions to which they have tightly held. Whether the great denunciation in these matters is to be permanent or only temporary, like our vast armaments and almost incredible expenditures, must be left to time and experience.

Good Fellows.

If this war does nothing else, we think it will cause everyone to scan the different candidates for public office a whole lot closer than we have in the past.

Simply because some crooked political machine happens to be strongly entrenched in the particular town or city we live in, we have often said.

"Oh, what's the use?" That phrase has been used so much that many politicians trade on it and from the reports they received from their workers could figure, and much closer than we would ever imagine on a percentage basis as to who would come out to vote and who wouldn't.

Then again, when we would go to vote, somebody who knew us would ask, "Do you mind giving Mr. Jones a vote; he's a neighbor of ours and he's a good fellow?" And Jones, being a neighbor and a good fellow, we give him a vote.

Mr. Jones' goodness is confined to the way he serves the gang who nominated him, not the community whom he is supposed to represent.

Here is the result. We have our taxes or rent raised, due to improvements costing anywhere from 50 to 200 per cent. above cost and the politicians have shooting lodges just because Mr. Jones is a neighbor of ours and a good fellow.

Good fellow, the dickens! We are the good fellows.

A Baseball Fan's War Dope.

An enthusiastic baseball patron, en route to France, wrote to a friend just before his departure:

"Well, I have signed up to play with the Sammies of the Allied League. We are booked for a series of games with the Huns of the Assassination League on their home grounds. I hear they play dirty baseball, and don't live up to the regulations—they use square bats and the emery ball, and some of the stuff they pull is pretty raw. They have a guy named Bill Satan and another bird called Hindenburg as managers, and are a bad lot.

"The series comes off at Berlin some time next fall, and we're going to win in a walk. Those birds won't even have a ball park left to play in. The Huns are using up their best pitchers now, and soon they won't have anything left but their gloves and they're doomed to the same fate of the Federal League, and you know what happened to it."

A pretty good line of dope, if anybody should ask you, though a high-brow war expert might phrase it more elegantly.

FRENCH AND BRITISH TROOPS IN THREE-MILE ADVANCE

LONDON, Aug. 5.—The Franco-British attack on the westerly side of the Marne salient yesterday was on a front of five miles and penetrated to a maximum depth of three miles, according to news received to-day. It resulted in the capture of the entire ridge which forms the watershed between the Ourcq and the Aisne, the advices indicate.

The situation is considered as extraordinarily good, being described in the advices as the turning point of the summer campaign and possibly of the whole war.

The French also captured the entire Neunire wood, on the line to the west of Goussancourt, at about the center of the salient.

The advance by the Allies along the western side of the salient is described as extremely important—possibly the most important thing the Allies have accomplished since the Germans retired from the Marne.

The importance of the victory, it is explained, lies in the fact that the new Allied positions commanded the whole area to the northward and take in flank and rear, the entire western gate through which the Germans have been retiring. This area is a nest of German reserves and field artillery.

Goussancourt itself has been taken by the French, the advices add.

The capture of the important ground on the heights to the westerly side of the line also means that the Germans will not be able to retire in an ordinary leisurely way, and that they probably will have to go beyond the River Vesle in their retreat.

SAVING AND SAVING AND LENDING.

Sir William Goode, of the British Food Ministry, says that from July, 1917, to April, 1918, the United States exported to the allies 80,000,000 bushels of wheat products. Of this it is asserted that 50,000,000 bushels represented voluntary sacrifices by the American people in their consumption of wheat.

There is a triple economy, a triple aspect to this saving of wheat. It saved wheat for our Army and the armies of our allies; it saved money to the American people, and for the most part this money went for the purchase of Government war securities.

There is another saving still; this sort of sacrifice and economy is helping win the war—with the resultant saving of soldiers' lives.

MAY CUT DOWN READING.

Restrictions on the reading matter space in daily and Sunday editions of newspapers, a retail price of two cents or more and the elimination of all waste were recommended to the War Industries Board by the committee on conservation of news print paper, by the American Newspaper Association. The recommendations were taken under advisement by board officials.

If the Bolsheviks are so crazy for peace, why don't they try a little of it at home?

UNIQUE ENTERTAINMENT GIVEN BY CHURCH SOCIETIES.

According to an annual custom, the members of the Young People's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church entertained the members of the Adult Society, Friday afternoon. The meeting was on the lawn at the home of Mrs. Henry A. Power, and was largely attended.

After all had assembled the guests were seated in groups of six from the Women's Auxiliary and one member from the Girls' Society.

After brief opening exercises, Miss Vella Mastin, president, announced that the program would consist of progressive short talks given by the girls, each one to entertain her group with a missionary topic until a bell was tapped, when each group would move forward.

This proved to be a most delightful idea, as the little talks were given in a charming manner, and included interesting bits of history regarding the missionary work that has been accomplished in foreign fields—China, Japan and Korea, and also on the Mexican border.

The young women who thus entertained their elders were: Misses Sara Power, Frances Hancock, Elizabeth Snapp, Maude Taylor, Edna Snapp and Mrs. Elizabeth Mann Carr.

After the conclusion of this feature of the entertainment, Miss Sara Power recited a verse about a "Blackbird Pie," which seemed somewhat irrelevant until she announced that one of their members, Miss Frances Hancock, has signed her intention of enlisting in missionary work, a "pie" had been prepared for her.

It was brought out by Miss Edna Snapp and Miss Miriam Galloway, and appeared to be a triumph of culinary skill, surmounted by more than the proverbial "four-and-twenty blackbirds," each with an appropriate sentiment written on his back.

When the pie was opened by Miss Hancock, it was found to be indeed a "dainty dish," as it contained a large number of beautiful gifts prepared by loving hands for the use of their companion who has endeared herself to a large circle of friends by her charming sincerity, her pleasing manner and deep consecration. She is a devoted member of the church, the Sunday School, the Epworth League and the Missionary Society, and will be greatly missed in all of these activities when she leaves soon to begin her training at the Scarritt Bible School in Kansas City.

The prayers and best wishes of her friends will follow this dear girl wherever she goes.

Mrs. Power and daughter served dainty refreshments and the occasion will long be remembered.

SIX NEW ARMY DIVISIONS ARE FORMED.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 5.—Gen. March announced the formation in the United States of six more divisions, numbered from 15 to 20, and to be located at Camp Logan, Tex.; Kearney, Cal.; Beauregard, La.; Travis, Tex.; Dodge, Iowa, and Sevier, S. C. As in the case of the six divisions announced last week, these will be built around two regular infantry regiments in each case.

Gen. March announced also the conversion of fifteen National Army cavalry regiments, numbered from 301 to 315, into field artillery. These will comprise part of the artillery units for the new divisions.

The Chief of Staff said that in carrying out the new policy of "one army" the War Department intends to put the letters "U. S." heretofore reserved for the Regulars, on the collar of every man serving in the military forces of the United States.

The subdesignations of "N. G." for National Guard, and "N. A." for National Army, will be abandoned. In the same connection Gen. March announced that the twelve Major Generals and the thirty-six Brigadiers necessary for the new divisions will be selected from all elements of the service.

This statement was taken to mean that both National Guard and National Army officers hereafter will be eligible for promotion to the rank of officers, even in the Regular Army divisions.

In response to a question Gen. March said that where a division commander was selected to be a temporary corps commander, the command of his division passed to the senior Brigadier. He had no information as to the location at present of the 89th National Army division.

COLORED SCHOOLS GAIN IN BUILDING PROGRAM.

FRANKFORT, KY., Aug. 5.—Probably forty one-room and ten two-room teacher colored schools will be built in Kentucky this year by reason of State Supt. V. O. Gilbert's success in securing $45,000 of the Rosenwald fund for building colored schools for the State.

This fund is administered by the Tuskegee Institute. For one-teacher rural schools the fund allows $400 and for two-teacher schools $500. The balance, $200 to $400, must be furnished by the county board or the community.

Many Kentucky counties are having difficulty in building schools for either white or colored children, and the situation is particularly bad with reference to accommodation for the colored pupils.

The buildings must be erected according to specifications stipulated by the fund under supervision of a resident representative. Supt. Gilbert has appointed F. M. Wood, of Paris, a leading colored educator, now Principal of the Paris Colored School, to supervise the building. Next year, perhaps, as many more schools will be built.

THREE RUSSIAN GRAND DUKES ARE EXECUTED.

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 5.—Three Russian grand dukes, one of whom is believed to have been Grand Duke Nicholas, former commander-in-chief of the Russian armies, have been executed by the Bolsheviks, according to dispatches to the Bayrische Landes Zeitung from Moscow.

DO IT NOW.

PARIS PEOPLE SHOULD NOT WAIT UNTIL IT IS TOO LATE.

The appalling death-rate from kidney disease is due largely to the fact that the kidney troubles are usually neglected until they become serious. The slight symptoms often give place to chronic disorders and sufferers may slip gradually into some serious form of kidney complaint.

If you suffer from backache, headaches, dizzy spells; if the kidney disease are irregular of passage and unnatural, do not delay. Help the kidneys at once.

Doan's Kidney Pills are especially for kidney disorders—they act where others fail. Over one hundred thousand people have recommended them. Here's a Paris case:

Mrs. Charles McCord, South Pleasant street, says: "Have used Doan's Kidney Pills at different time, getting them from Oberdorfer's Drug Store and I have found them a splendid medicine. Whenever my kidneys have been acting irregularly or my back has been weak or lame, I have found a box or two of Doan's Kidney Pills has been sufficient to cure me of the attack."

Price 60c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. McCord had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y. (adv)

REPORT SHOWS AN IMMENSE AMOUNT OF TOBACCO ON HAND

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—About 220 million pounds more tobacco were on hand July 1 than was held on that date last year, a canvass by the Census bureau, just made, shows. Aggregate stocks of leaf tobacco amounted to 1,386,049,368 pounds, composed of 989,810,467 pounds of chewing, smoking, snuff and export types, 315,915,205 pounds of cigar types, and 80,323,696 pounds of imported types.

THE BEST PLASTER.

A piece of flannel dampened with Chamberlain's Liniment and bound over the seat of pain is often more effective for a lame back than a plaster and does not cost anything like as much.

DECLARES DIVIDEND.

The Kentucky Rural Credits Association, which failed at Lexington with a smash some time ago, has declared two dividends of five per cent. each, making ten per cent. for the creditors to date. The concern was a million-dollar corporation. A number of Bourbon county men were caught in the smash.

FOOD EXPERT TO MEET STOCK BREEDERS IN LEXINGTON.

C. E. Yancey, of Missouri, recently appointed United States Meat Production expert by Herbert Hoover, will arrive in Lexington, August 17, to speak at a great mass meeting of 2,000 picked men from Kentucky, all of them experts in meat production.

The meeting is under the auspices of the Extension Division of the College of Agriculture of the University of Kentucky and elaborate plans are being made for the meeting on Aug. 17, and the entertainment of the food experts.

Mr. Yancey is one of the prominent cattle dealers of the country and an authority on all meat production. Business of great importance to all producers and consumers and buyers will be transacted at this meeting.

The price of hogs and cattle, according to grade and weight, will be fixed at this meeting.

Special invitations are being prepared to be sent to the guests at this meeting.

Don't Neglect Your Eyes.

"Oh, mother, I see lights in the sky." And this child, after visiting an optometrist, saw the stars for the first time. His mother, though a strong woman, broke down and wept to think she had neglected the child so long. Father, mother, are you going to allow your child to be thus neglected, when an examination of their eyes will reveal his or her true condition? Over 50 per cent. of children have defective vision in some way. Better bring your child to us for a thorough, scientific examination. Will not advise glasses unless absolutely necessary. Open Saturday evenings until 9 o'clock.

LIFT OFF CORNS!

Doesn't hurt at all and costs only a few cents

Magic! Just drop a little Freezone on that touchy corn, instantly it stops aching, then you lift the corn off with the fingers. Truly! No humbug!

Try Freezone! Your druggist sells a tiny bottle for a few cents, sufficient to rid your feet of every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and calluses, without one particle of pain, soreness or irritation. Freezone is the discovery of a noted Cincinnati genius.

THIS BRINGS PLEASING NEWS TO HOTELS AND RESTAURANTS

Release of hotels, restaurants, clubs and dinner car service throughout the country on August 1 from the voluntary pledge to use no wheat until the present harvest, was announced in Washington in a cablegram from Food Administrator Hoover, who is now in England.

Public eating places, the Food Administration said, will continue to comply with baking regulations and to serve "victory" bread.

Mr. Hoover in his cablegram congratulated the proprietors of public eating places upon their patriotic service, expressed appreciation of the substantial savings effected and voiced confidence that the spirit shown will enable the American people to build up a great food reserve against the exigencies of the future.

Though exact figures have not been compiled, it was estimated by the Food Administration that through voluntary pledge made by hotels, restaurants, clubs and dining cars there has been effected between October 1, 1917, and August 1, 1918, a saving of between 175,000,000 and 200,000,000 pounds of wheat and its products, 150,000,000 pounds of meat and 50,000,000 pounds of sugar.

The action of the proprietors of public eating places, it was said, also has been of great educational value in carrying to the homes of the nation the necessity of food saving.

CATARHAL DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. All Druggists, 75c.

THE AMERICAN'S GREED

"I believe in the United States of America as a Government of the people, by the people, for the people; whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic; a sovereign nation of many sovereign States; a perfect union, one and inseparable; established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice and humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes. I, therefore, believe it is my duty to my country to love it; to support its Constitution; to obey its laws; to respect its flag and to defend it against all enemies."

LIVE STOCK INSPECTOR WARNS AGAINST VIOLATION OF LAW.

I am in receipt of a letter from Dr. S. F. Musselman, State Veterinarian, Frankfort, in which he suggests that for the benefit of Bourbon farmers, I call attention through the newspapers to the law governing the disposal of carcasses of domestic animals. He directs attention to Section 8 of Laws Affecting the State Live Stock Sanitary Board and State County Stock Inspectors. The law referred to is as follows:

Section 8. That all carcasses of domestic animals, which have died or which have been destroyed on account of any disease, except those destroyed on account of tuberculosis and slaughtered under the supervision of the State Veterinarian or other representative of the Board, unless otherwise ordered by the Board, shall be disposed of as follows:

a. Complete cremation of the entire carcass and all of its parts and products.

b. Boiling carcass and all of its parts and products in water, or heating with steam at a temperature above boiling continuously for two (2) hours or more.

c. Burying carcass and all of its parts and products in the earth at a point which is never covered with the overflow of ponds or streams, and which is distant not less than one hundred (100) feet from any watercourse, well, spring, public highway, residence or stable. Carcass shall be placed in an opening in the earth at least four (4) feet deep, abdominal and thoracic cavities opened wide their entire length with a knife, or other sharp instrument, and the entire carcass covered with two (2) inches of quicklime and at least three (3) feet of earth.

Neglect or refusal on the part of the owner to dispose of carcass or carcasses, as above set forth, within forty-eight (48) hours after said carcass or carcasses are found, shall constitute a misdemeanor, and upon conviction said owner shall be fined not less than ten ($10.00) dollars nor more than fifty ($50.00) dollars for each offense.

Violators of the law incur a heavy penalty and it is the wisest plan to obey the law and avoid any trouble.

Respectfully,
A. B. PLUMMER,
Live Stock Inspector,
Bourbon County, Ky.

REDCROSS CHAPTER WANTS 500 TRENCH FOOT SLIPPERS

To the Women of Bourbon County:

In our quota for September 1, in Red Cross work, is a request for 500 trench foot slippers (250 pairs).

These slippers should be made of velvet, velveteen, corduroy or heavy cloth. They are then lined with out-flannel.

It is impossible for us to buy the necessary material and we are asking the patriotic women of the county to send us any garments or pieces they have no use for, to be used in this way. An old pair of cloth trousers, or a coat, can be cut into several pairs, as the slippers can be pieced.

We published an appeal some days ago but the response was so small we have less than 50 slippers made.

Are we to fail in this as we have done in nothing else? We have been proud of our record up to this time. May it always remain untarnished.

If any friend desires to buy a remnant or piece of new material to send in, it requires two-thirds of a yard of 27 inch goods to make one pair.

Send all material to the Red Cross Rooms, at the Court House, in Paris.

If it is more convenient for ladies out in the country materials may be sent to Mrs. Annabelle Wallace, or Mrs. D. C. Lisle, at Leesburg; Miss Florence Hopkins, at Little Rock; Mrs. Letcher Weathers, at Clintonville, and Mrs. John Collins, at North Middletown.

Miss Marie Collins has returned to her home at North Middletown, from Cincinnati, where she has been taking a special course of study at the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music.

Mrs. Richard Coghill, of Georgetown, who has been a guest of Mr. and J. W. James, on Fourth street, has gone to Lexington for a visit to Mrs. James' daughter, Mrs. J. E. Barnett.

Miss Margaret Graham Davis has returned to her home in Springfield, Ky., after a visit to Mr. and Mrs. John T. Hinton, on High street. Miss Davis is a daughter of Mr. Will Hinton Davis, formerly of Paris.

Rev. W. O. Sadler, formerly pastor of the Paris Methodist church, was a guest of friends in this city several days last week. Rev. Sadler is now pastor of the Scott street Methodist church in Covington.

Mr. A. H. Kelso, General Counsel, and Mr. J. W. Porter, vice-president, of the Missouri and Kentucky Utilities Company, were here last week conferring with officials of the Paris Gas & Electric Co., on business matters.

Mr. and Mrs. Will G. McClintock have moved to their home on Pleasant street, which has been undergoing extensive remodeling for several weeks. Pending the completion of the work they have been guests at the Crosdale Hotel.

At Winchester, Friday evening, Miss Elizabeth Tarr, of Paris, who is visiting friends there, was guest of honor at a delightful entertainment given by Miss Lucille Clark. The guests spent an enjoyable time with games and other forms of amusement. A tempting luncheon was served.

Mrs. C. A. Teller, formerly Miss Lucille Price, of Paris, is improving at a hospital near Chicago, where she has been a patient for several months. Mr. Teller wrote a very encouraging letter last week to Mrs. Teller's parents. Mr. and Mrs. I. L. Price, of this city, stating that Mrs. Teller's improvement was a matter of very great encouragement and satisfaction to her physicians.

According to a Vienna physician insomnia can be cured if a person will grasp the head of his bed and pull backward until fatigue develops.

U. S. PRESSING NEED FOR CAVALRY HORSES

Not Only For Immediate War Requirements, But For the Future.

Washington, D. C., July 8.—The task of horsing Uncle Sam's troopers is one of the problems of the day.

It is not alone a matter of supplying a sufficient number of remounts for the cavalry arm of the service for present day needs.

The question of a reserve of the proper type for the future bulk large in the foreground. Col. John S. Fair of the Quartermaster Corps has this most important work in hand for the Federal Government. Col. Fair is in intimate touch with horse conditions throughout the United States, and no man speaks with greater knowledge of the country's needs in the matter of riding horse type. He realizes that it is from the quick, active families of which the thoroughbred standardbred and Morgan are representatives, that the remount supply must be drawn.

Col. Fair's plea for an accelerated campaign of remount production should carry weight with breeders in every part of the Union and make them eager to assist the Government.

"I think," said he today, "that we were all beguiled into a feeling of security by the census of 1910, which announced that there were 23,000,000 horses in the United States. It was not until we were at war ourselves that the fact struck home that a very large proportion of these were draught breeds and that cavalry remount material was exceedingly scarce.

Transport and gun horses we have in abundance, thanks to the importation of Percheron and other draught breeds, but in the matter of the riding horse, aimless and purposeless breeding outside of a few regions has reduced our standard to mediocrity. There has not been that systematic effort in horse production which is a feature of the economic development of most foreign governments, notably that of France which is generally recognized as a model for the world. The only helpful influence I know of that has

NOTICE, TAX PAYERS.

Under the new law, all tax payers are required to call at our offices in the Court House and give in their tax lists. The office of Assessor has been abolished, and the new law requires that you call at the offices of the undersigned Tax Commissioners and transact your business in regard to taxes. We will be in our offices every day until further notice for that purpose. Call NOW and avoid penalties for not doing so. All property owners are required to bring a list of their property as of July 1st to the office.

Mr. Thos. Ahearn, of the firm of Ahearn & Burton, purchased of John Johnson, of Lexington, Saturday afternoon the two-story frame house at the corner of Tenth and Pleasant streets, occupied by them as a restaurant and bakery. The price paid for the property was not given out for publication. Mr. Johnson's business interests having become centered in Lexington he decided to dispose of the property.

SAVE!

We have in stock in our tailoring department 33 pieces of woolen suitings, which were carried over from last year. These suitings are fully as good patterns as could be procured this year, and the prices are very cheap, almost like buying wheat at $1.00 the bushel, therefore, by selecting one of these before they have all been sold, the lucky ones can realize a great saving on their winter suit. We are also receiving daily many new patterns for fall, both in suitings and overcoatings. Now is the time to make your selection.

SOME AUGUST WEATHER.

This is August weather with a verdict of suffering humanity as to the weather of Saturday, Sunday and yesterday was unanimous. The mercury reached the topmost notch of the present summer season Sunday afternoon, where reliable thermometers registered 104 degrees.

Saturday was a scorching day when the mercury ascended into the nineties, but Sunday was admitted by all to be "the hottest day ever." Large numbers of bathers spent the afternoon at Boonesboro, and along the banks of Stoner creek and at private ponds in the county, all seeking relief from the intense heat. As late as midnight Sunday there was no appreciable relaxation of the intense heat. Cloudy skies gave promise for the succeeding day.

NEW AUTO OWNERS.

Mr. Hedges Rash, of the transfer firm of Gilkey & Rash, of North Middletown, recently purchased Model 10, one ton Republic motor truck from the Republic Motor Truck Co., at Lexington. The Phoenix Garage, of Lexington, reports the following sales to Bourbon county people: To Robert Lyne, of Paris, a two-passenger Franklin roadster; to J. E. Hunter, of Paris, a five passenger touring car. All the cars have been delivered. They also sold to Mr. C. Sweeney, of Paris, a touring car.

Mr. Charles Webber and party have returned from Syracuse, New York, driving three Franklin touring cars, a sedan car and a Franklin roadster. The cars were brought to Paris by Mr. Webber, Fred Bryant, Shelby Lane, Emmett Edwards and Robert Lyne.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.*Comings and Goings of Our People Here, There and Elsewhere.

—Miss Edna Huffman, of Covington, is visiting relatives and friends in Paris.

—Mr. Duncan Bell returned Sunday night from a business trip to New York.

—Miss Eleanor Daniels, of Covington, is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Sledd, near Paris.

—Mrs. Hershel Humble and Mrs. D. Thompson are guests of friends and relatives in Somerset.

—Miss Laura Belle Smith has returned from a two-weeks' visit to friends and relatives in Cynthiana.

—Miss Augusta Rogers has returned to her home in Lexington, after a pleasant visit to friends and relatives in Paris.

—Dr. A. H. Keller and Mr. Ellis Hukill visited friends and relatives in Irvine from Sunday to yesterday afternoon.

—Miss Bernice Moore and Martha Coleman, of Mt. Sterling, were guests of Miss Anna Louise White for the dance at Masonic Temple, Friday night.

—Mr. Ashley, recently appointed agent for the Adams Express Co., at this point, has leased one of the Dr. F. P. Campbell cottages on High street, and has moved his family here from Covington.

—Mrs. Otis Allender, of Falmouth, and her sister, Mrs. Arel Allender, of Doxey, Okla., returned to Falmouth, Sunday, after a visit to their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Day, on Vine street, in this city.

—Lexington Leader: "Ben 'Biscuit' Downey, of Paris, representing the National Biscuit Company, was on hand at the meeting Saturday night, and had a good time. Ben is the best fisherman Blue Grass Council has on the list, and when it comes to selling crackers and cakes he is 'way out in front."

—The Carlisle Mercury says: "Miss Alice Herman Shankland has returned from Paris, where she has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. Wm. Durham Smart....Mrs. J. C. Smart and children, Maybelle, Joseph and J. C. Smart, Jr., have returned from Paris, where they have been guests of relatives."

—At the entertainment given by the Mystic Order of Shriners in Lexington, Mr. Clay Sutherland, of Paris, a member of the order, sang a beautiful solo. He was accompanied at the piano by Miss Elizabeth Crutcher, of Paris. Mr. Sutherland's selection was heartily applauded and he was compelled to respond to encores.

—Miss Margaret Ferguson entertained with a dining Saturday evening at her home on the Hume & Bedford pike, in honor of Misses Marian and Elizabeth Clay Alexander, who are guests of Paris relatives. The guests were Misses Elizabeth Clay Alexander and Marian Alexander, Kate Alexander, Mrs. Katherine Davis Craig; Charlton Clay, Withers Davis and Hugh Ferguson.

—The August dance given at the Masonic Temple, Friday night, was a brilliant success, and was attended by a large number of young people from surrounding towns. The music was furnished by Smith's Saxophone Orchestra. There was but one thing lacking, the presence of Ireland "Bit" Davis, who has done as much, perhaps as anyone in Central Kentucky, to make dancing a popular pastime, and his absence on this occasion was a source of genuine regret.

—Winchester Daily Democrat: "Mrs. W. E. Pinnell, Mrs. Bettie Van Meter, of Lexington; Mrs. Charles Nelson, Mr. Spencer Pinnell, Misses Ruth Pinnell and Lucille Clark and Charles B. Nelson, Jr., motored to Paris to see Mrs. Lou Davis Redmon, Mrs. Mary Walker and Miss Maude Wilson....Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ecton and Mr. and Mrs. Younger Osborne motored to Paris to see Mr. Ecton's sister, who is ill at the hospital. She was reported somewhat improved."

—Miss Ruby Jane Houston, the charming sister of Mrs. Spears Moore, entertained a party of young people with a theatre party at the Paris Grand, Saturday evening, in honor of Miss Elizabeth Stuart Carter, of Paris, who will soon remove to Lexington to reside. The members of the party were Mr. John Dundon and Miss Elizabeth Stuart Carter; Mr. Foster Mitchell and Miss Margaret Griffith; Mr. Robert Smith and Miss Mildred Collier; Mr. Ussery Wilder and Miss Macie Saloshin; Mr. Robert Lair (Cynthiana) and Miss Margaret Ewart; Mr. Ed. Drane Paton and Miss Mary Ellen Scott; Mr. George Duncan and Miss Ethel McPhee; Mr. Holt Henry and Miss Laura Price (Danville); Mr. Gall Browne and Miss Nellie Case (Covington); Mr. Jack Lair and Miss Mary Frances Campbell; Mr. James Rowland and Miss Ruby Houston; Mr. Yutaki Minakuchi, (unattached). Following this the party was entertained at the Sweet Shop by Mrs. O. P. Carter, where refreshments were served.

toasts proposed and responded to and games played.

—Miss Josephine Shawhan has returned from Richmond, where she has been attending the summer session at the State Normal School.

—Miss Mayme Carter, of near Paris, is a patient at the Good Samaritan Hospital, in Lexington, suffering from an attack of typhoid fever.

—Mrs. Jacob Schuster and son, Lloyd, have returned to their home in Covington, after a visit to friends in North Middletown and Paris. They were accompanied by Miss Amelia Wind, who will be a guest at their home for several weeks.

—Mrs. Lizzie Price and daughter, Miss Paige Price, of Denver, Colo., have arrived in Paris, to spend the remainder of the summer with Mrs. Price's brother, Capt. F. E. Nelson, and Mrs. Nelson, at their home on Eighth street.

—Mr. Fred Legg has returned to his home in Cincinnati, after a visit to his sister, Mrs. Frank Trisler, on Eighth street. Mr. Legg is president of the Logan & Kanawha Coal & Coke Co., one of the largest producing concerns in the West Virginia fields.

—Mrs. Harvey Owens entertained at her home in Lexington, Saturday, in honor of Mrs. Mattle Jones and daughter, Miss Sunshine Jones, of Paris. After the games and music, refreshments were served. Mrs. Jones and daughter will visit relatives in Lexington before returning to their home in this city.

—Miss Della Hornback entertained a number of her friends at her home on Main street, last Saturday evening, with a party given for her brother, Private Melvin Hornback, who is stationed at Camp Shelby, Mississippi, and is at home for a few days. Various games were enjoyed by the young people. Ices and cakes were served.

—Mayor George Weissenger Smith and Mrs. Smith, touring the Bluegrass in their big touring car, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Hinton, in this city, Friday. They were enroute through Kentucky to Camp Sherman, near Chillicothe, Ohio, to visit their son, who is stationed in the camp receiving instructions for overseas work. Mr. Smith and Mr. Hinton were fellow members of the Kentucky Legislature several years ago.

—Danville Messenger: "Mr. Wm. S. Rowland has returned from a visit to friends in Paris....Mr. Thomas Johnson left Saturday for Paris where he will be a guest of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Wooford, for a few days....Mrs. Geo. C. Thompson, Jr., has returned to Paris, after a visit to friends here. Mrs. Thompson was the handsome matron of honor at the Hanger-Shelby wedding. Mrs. Thompson, who was formerly Miss Matilda James, of Paris, now resides at Allensville, Ala."

BABY PAGEANT AT STATE FAIR

There is no feature of the Kentucky State Fair in which spectators exhibit a deeper interest than the charming and spectacular "Baby Pageant," which finals the Babies' Health Contest on Friday afternoon of Fair week. The pageant each year is entirely different in type and is kept as a surprise to State Fair visitors until the hour announced for its presentation on Friday. They are designed to exhibit spectacularly the gifts and graces of the three hundred or more winsome entrants in the Baby Contest and provide a delightful finale to a period which is of intense seriousness and importance to both mothers and babies, for it is in the Babies' Health Contest, instituted at the Kentucky State Fair in 1913, that babies between twelve and thirty-six months receive an examination and scoring of vast importance to the future physical welfare of the child. The babies are classed and scored on the same scientific basis that carefully-bred stock is handled, and they are gone over from head to foot by experts in eye, ear, throat, lung, brain and general-practice lines in a manner which leaves nothing undiscovered in regard to the little one's physical condition, the points needing correction or the fact brought forth that baby is devoid of weakness or blemish. To mothers unacquainted with scientific methods of baby care and to those living in rural districts where such information is difficult and oftentimes impossible to obtain, the Babies' Health Contests are valuable beyond measure, as is proved by the fact that in the city of Chicago statistics show that 11 per cent of the children die, while those looked after scientifically by the Infant Welfare Society lose only 3 1/2 per cent. This demonstrates beyond argument that the Babies' Health Contests are educative along lines invaluable to the coming generation, and that all mothers should be provided with the knowledge of how to care for her baby, how to feed it, how to let it sleep, how to dress it, and how to remedy defects.

The Babies' Health Contest this year is under the supervision of Mrs. John L. Woodbury, who has handled it since its original introduction at the Kentucky State Fair in 1913.

The city babies who enter the contest are examined throughout the week prior to the opening of the Fair; September 9, in Kentucky State Fair Headquarters, in the Republic Building, and the babies from the rural districts are examined during Fair week in the Babies' Health Contest Building on the grounds. It is after the marking, scoring and tabulating is over that the babies are gathered for the pageant, which displays the charming tots to delightful advantage.

AUTO POLO AT FAIR BAND GREAT FEATURE

Popular Sport For Visitors to Louisville During September

Something New in Entertainment Line—is Thrilling and Exciting From Start to Finish.

"Auto Polo" is announced as a star feature of the amusement attractions of the sixteenth annual Kentucky State Fair, to be held in Louisville the week of September 9-14.

This game will be an entire innovation to State Fair visitors, and is heralded as one of the most unique, exciting and absorbing contests ever offered at the Kentucky Fair or any other celebration of like character.

The entertainment consists of a nerve-tingling, wildly-exciting battle between polo experts who are mounted in especially constructed automobile instead of on polo ponies as of yore. Playing the game in addition to managing a careening, space-eating automobile is a proposition calculated to keep spectators on the qui vive of excitement and suspense, and the game, in its present form, rather tends to make the pony-played polo look like child's play.

The polo contests will take place every night of the Fair in the big $150,000 Hippodrome Building and every afternoon in front of the race track grandstand.

The game is said to be one which has created a furor in the sporting world, and few can watch the curiously-constructed automobiles "turn turtle" at critical periods of the game and right themselves immediately by reason of their build, without being on their feet with excitement during the better part of the game.

The great $10,000 five gaited saddle horse stake which was introduced at the Kentucky State Fair last year and will be a feature of the sixteenth annual Kentucky State Fair this year, focuses the attention of the horse world on the state. The event consists of a sensational struggle for championship honors among the stallions on Monday night, the mares on Tuesday night and the geldings on Wednesday night, while the grand championship of the world is fought out between mares, stallions and geldings on Saturday night of Fair week.

Thaviu Has Been Secured By The State Fair

The sixteenth annual Kentucky State Fair to be held in Louisville the week of September 9-14, will boast in Thaviu's Band of forty musicians one of the greatest musical organizations ever appearing at a State Fair. The Thaviu organization is made up of forty splendidly trained musicians who are arrayed in military regalia and accompanying it is a coterie of solo artists of international repute, together with a galaxy of ballet dancers who are said to be terpsichorean wonders and fully up to the coryphees of Pavlova, Genee or Ruth St. Denis.

Thaviu's Band was one of the sixteen great organizations which played at the Panama-Pacific Exposition, and it was the only one commissioned to play a return engagement. As a traveling organization it has visited all the principal cities of the United States and has invariably received a contract for a return engagement.

Thaviu himself is a musician of the widest culture and training and his leadership is demonstrated by the merit of his musicians' performances. His programs are made up of selections appealing to cosmopolitan ideas and are of a kind to delight crowds with tastes as diverse as that of the State Fair.

HUNS DIDN'T GET UKRAINE GRAIN

It Was Burned There by Remnants of the Czech-Slovak Retiring Army.

TOUCH-TEUTS IN STOMACHS

Food Allowances Reduced, and Starvation in Some Places Is Apparent—Take Revenge for Oppressive Treatment of Bohemia.

Washington.—Amid the many easy triumphs which enabled the Teutons this year to slice great sections from the map of Russia, like coupons from a bond, Germany and Austria both suffered one frightful disappointment. And the pang was in the weakest part of their political anatomy—the collective stomach of their peoples.

The grain of which the two kaisers expected to plunder the Ukraine was not there—at least there was so little of it that Germany had to lower her bread ration, while Austria continued to starve a bit more rapidly. The supplies had been burned.

These fires were lighted, with a kind of poetic justice, by the remnants of the Czech-Slovak army—deserters from the Austrian ranks and inveterate enemies of the Hapsburgs, who had been reconstituted into Russian military units under the Kerensky regime and fought so splendidly for Russia before the whole nation collapsed from the gnawing of the Bolsheviks.

Fortunate for the Allies.
Until March of this year this Czech-Slovak army had been stationed in the Ukraine—50,000 men in line and 50,000 more in reserve. Then Bolshevik representatives dissolved their organization and took away their arms, though about 20,000 refused to part with their weapons. They were given promises that they would be allowed to leave Russia for the United States, but, of course, no means of transportation were provided. And so they remained where they were.

It was fortunate for the allies that they did. As soon as they realized that Germany's chief objective in Russia was the Ukrainian grain supply they began systematic campaigns of pillage and burning, in which they were assisted by the peasants themselves, aroused at the thought that the old landowners were to return under German protection.

The evidence that the Czech-Slovaks were successful is incontestable. Count Czernin, Austro-Hungarian prime minister until his little exchange of pleasantries with M. Clemenceau, placed the responsibility for the bare Ukrainian cupboard on the shoulders of the Czech-Slovaks. German representatives in the Austrian Reichsrath repeated the charge in greater details. A Magyar deputy in the Hungarian parliament recently declared that the Czech-Slovak army in Ukraine had burned or taken away everything of value.

Had Their Revenge.
Not only did they destroy what they could, but they fought bitterly to prevent the Teutons taking what was left. Retiring and hampered by their lack of equipment, they stopped to meet the advancing Germans repeatedly in the field. Their last battle, one of those confused struggles which get little space in the cable reports, was fought near Bachmac, halfway between Kleff and Kursk on the road to Moscow. After the fight, though the Czech-Slovaks had been armed chiefly with axes, they themselves buried more than 300 Germans.

Certainly in Ukraine the Czech-Slovaks have had their revenge for three centuries of suffocation and oppression in Bohemia. But throughout the war they have launched shattering blows against their Austrian and German enemies and the whole idea of Mittel Europa.

KEEP LOST MEN'S PHOTOS

Navy Department Is Anxious to Perpetuate Memory of Enlisted Men.

Washington.—Secretary Daniels is anxious to preserve in the navy's record photographs of all men of that branch who have lost their lives in the service. He is requesting relatives and friends to send photographs to the recruiting division, Bureau of Navigation, Navy Department.

The purpose is to perpetuate the memory of enlisted men. Officers are required to provide photographs and official pictures are taken of all graduates of Annapolis.

As photographs of enlisted men are received copies will be made for the records of the navy department and the originals returned to the owners. A photograph of each man will be forwarded by the department to the training station where he began his career in the service. There, a memorial gallery or hero's corner will be formed.

Mobilizing a Nation's Fighting Strength

Great military cities have sprung up all over the land; and linking these training camps, aviation fields, coast defenses, naval stations and even most remote points where our forces are gathering, is the Universal Bell Telephone system—linking each with the other and all with the departments at Washington.

Upon the declaration of war the Bell system was placed unreservedly at the disposal of the government, whose already enormous demands for telephone service are continually increasing. Likewise, unprecedented are the service requirements of private business, which necessarily must be subordinated in times of emergency.

So far as the local service is concerned we are not only unable to increase our revenue by accepting a volume of new business, but we are in the awkward position of seeing our service suffer and our present patrons inconvenienced. The delays and inconveniences due to the congestion are more embarrassing to us than to the public.

Any sacrifice we may make is accepted cheerfully and if our difficulties are reflected in your telephone service, we ask that you bear this in mind.

The patriotic American public can co-operate most effectively with the government by discouraging unnecessary use of the telephone.

HOME SERVICE "PLATTSBURGH'S" HOLD SESSIONS.

"Home Service Plattsburghs" are in session. In a six-weeks' course, Red Cross Chapter delegates to the Home Service Institutes at Cleveland and Cincinnati are receiving instruction in Red Cross Home Service.

Chapters in all counties of the Lake Division, Red Cross States, Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky, are awake to the great need for Home Service. Committees have been appointed and delegates sent to take these important courses.

There is so much work to be done! Untrained workers, however willing, cannot answer all the questions that arise, even in the small communities. Every chapter needs at least one trained executive to direct this patriotic work in the community.

At the Home Service Institutes courses are given covering War Risk Insurance, re-education of wounded soldiers and sailors, the care of civil and business affairs of absent soldiers, health of soldiers' families and child welfare. Conferences and discussions are arranged to answer questions that may arise on points regarding delayed allotments and communications.

Enthusiasm, earnestness and diligence have marked the work at the previous institutes. The Lake Division leads all other divisions in the number of students graduated from former Home Service Institutes. One hundred and twenty-seven students from seventy-six chapters have received instruction and returned to their home towns to carry on this important Red Cross work. The demand for similar courses has been so universal that future Institutes have been arranged to take care of those who could not attend the present sessions.

September 1st, at Indianapolis and Columbus, October 1st in Cleveland will see new groups gathered from the chapters' committees. The Lake Division Bureau of Civilian Relief has arranged to have expert workers lecture at these meetings and is doing everything possible to provide trained workers for all chapters.

"Plan ahead. Don't miss your opportunity to attend the next 'H. S.' Institute. Study the work which stay-at-home patriots must do to keep up the courage of the soldiers and sailors and relieve anxiety in the families of the fighting men," says the message of James L. Fiester, division director of Civilian Relief, to the chapter workers charged to "carry on."

REALLY NO SECRET

Power to Charm Lies in Forgetfulness of Self.

Women Who Fascinate Have Simply Developed the Art or Power of Putting Others "On Good Terms With Themselves."

A vivacious woman writer seeking the secret of feminine fascination, finds it in the art or power some women have of charming others by putting them, as a bluff Britisher phrased it, "on ripping good terms with them-selves." Is not this a characteristic of almost all those persons, men and women, whom we like the best and enjoy the most? Do they not, either by artifice or by instinct, endeavor to make the people they meet feel that they amount to something, know something, have some excellence, attractiveness or interesting qualities, and thus put them on pleasant terms with themselves. The persons who are least adept at this or least inclined to try it are the self-centered, self-important people completely absorbed in their own affairs and not wise or well-bred in little worlds of which they are the centers, and may be said in a certain sense to revolve about themselves. They are egocentric. The things that touch them make up their world, and they have no interests outside of that. More than any other animal the dog can sink his personality so to speak, subordinate himself and make his master's interests his own. Only infrequent individuals of other species can or will do this. Hence dogs as a rule are more companionable for men than any other living creatures below him in the evolutionary scale.

But to return to human beings, Josephine was the most beloved and charming woman in France because she took a genuine and kindly interest in the affairs of all, with whom she came in touch. She was outgoing, inclusive in her sympathies and thus counteracted antagonism created by Napoleon, who was self-centered to an extraordinary degree. Not to multiply examples, does not experience teach all observant people that in selflessness lies the secret of charm? Are not the lovable people those whose love goes out spontaneously, or appears to? Is not egocentricity, entire absorption in themselves, a characteristic held in common by most of the people who get on one's nerves? Kind hearts are more than coronets, said Tennyson.

More attractive, therefore, than beauty or the brilliancy and glitter of intellectuality is the drawing power of kindly consideration for others. Fascination is born of the heart, not of the mind; and whether instinctive or acquired, would seem to be the art of entering into the lives of others and putting them, as the Englishman said, on good terms with themselves.

In a merry mood the members take their places in the fresh morning air. Most of them are dressed in velveteen coats, top-boots and peaked caps. Two men ascend each tower and the rest are distributed among the nets. In each of the clearings stands a small house from the center of which rises a tall black mast. To that two huge nets are fastened, stretching right and left to clumps of trees and spreading out obliquely to the ground. Inside the house is a handle and a cogwheel for raising the weighted nets. The lookout place is a straw hut two or three miles away in the direction from which the pigeons are expected. When the watcher sights a flock of birds he gives a signal on his horn, which other watchers scattered about the woods take up.

The birds travel at a tremendous speed, always with a leader, and in flocks of from 30 to 100. Every one takes to cover, for the birds are easily frightened. The men on the towers are provided with long bows and whitewashed stones about the size of small hen's eggs. These they discharge with great force. The pigeons, it is said, mistake the stones for hawks and make frantic efforts to avoid them, so the slingers must sling the stones where they do not wish the birds to go; yet when they are flying high, a stone flung beneath them will bring them hurtling downward. Then, with loud cries, the watchers drive them toward the nets. The stone-slinging is the essence of the sport, and it requires strong muscles, a quick eye and a steady aim.

But the netting is also difficult. The man at the ropes is white and nervous; everything now depends upon him. If he releases the weight at the right moment, the net comes down instantly and the birds are bagged. A moment too soon, and they see the danger and avoid it; a moment too late and they pass in safety. It is a matter of an instant, and many more flocks escape than are taken.

The birds are gray and somewhat smaller than the domestic pigeon. They cannot be trained or tamed. The sport is far from being profitable, for even when they have good luck the pigeon catchers never take enough birds to pay for the elaborate preparation they have made. But the moment when the nets whirl down at Cava is a moment of rare excitement.

"It was very, very silly of you to call me on this case," he said, somewhat testily, to the farmer's wife. "I know it was, but Doctor Brown was out."

Strained His Telescope.

The oldest inhabitant of Little Cockleton possesses a telescope which he never uses.

"Why don't you make use of it sometimes, James?" a neighbor asked.

"It used to be a good 'n,' James said sorrowfully, "but it's broke now."

"Broken?" the neighbor asked.

"How's that?"

"Well," James replied, "it was such a good'n that I could see the old church steeple five miles away quite plain, but Joseph, the scoundrel, got the lead of it and tried to make out the steeple of the Methodist chapel mornin' ten miles away. He tried and tried and couldn't, so that he strained my glass and it's never been right since. Darn Joseph."

Commander a "Good Fellow."

One of the home-guard boys had on a uniform that was too large for him. While waiting on the station platform for the train to come the commander noticed this boy and coming up to him turned him around and around, looking him over on every side. Finally he said: "Young man, that suit does not fit you."

The boy, not realizing to whom he was talking, promptly retorted: "Well, that is no reason why I should be made a windmill of, is it?"

Luck favored him and the commander laughed.

OLD ITALIAN SPORT

Peculiar Method of Snaring Migrating Pigeons

At Cava dei Tirreni the Birds Are Waylaid With Nets and Sling—Much Ingenuity Necessary to Secure Good "Bag."

It is not often that one comes across a little place that has an ingenious and exciting sport all its own. At Cava dei Tirreni, in Italy, however, there has for a thousand years existed a peculiar form of pigeon catching. It was introduced in 892, says Mr. Herbert Violan in Italy at War and it has flourished ever since. At the beginning of every autumn great flocks of pigeons migrate from Siberia to Africa and pass over Cava and the Gulf of Salerno. They probably have other routes, but Cava is the only place where they are waylaid with nets and slings. The season is at its height from the 15th to 25th of October.

The pigeon catchers are mostly men of the lower middle class, who club together to form six societies, or "games." A game usually consists of three or four towers and a clearing where the nets are set up. One tower is probably a thousand yards from the net, and the nearest, perhaps seventy yards, but the distances vary. The towers are tall and slim, windowless and weather-beaten. There are steps about halfway up the inside, and a rickety ladder leads to the parapet at the top. Each society has also a neat little clubhouse, usually near the chief tower.

In a merry mood the members take their places in the fresh morning air. Most of them are dressed in velveteen coats, top-boots and peaked caps. Two men ascend each tower and the rest are distributed among the nets. In each of the clearings stands a small house from the center of which rises a tall black mast. To that two huge nets are fastened, stretching right and left to clumps of trees and spreading out obliquely to the ground. Inside the house is a handle and a cogwheel for raising the weighted nets. The lookout place is a straw hut two or three miles away in the direction from which the pigeons are expected. When the watcher sights a flock of birds he gives a signal on his horn, which other watchers scattered about the woods take up.

The birds travel at a tremendous speed, always with a leader, and in flocks of from 30 to 100. Every one takes to cover, for the birds are easily frightened. The men on the towers are provided with long bows and whitewashed stones about the size of small hen's eggs. These they discharge with great force. The pigeons, it is said, mistake the stones for hawks and make frantic efforts to avoid them, so the slingers must sling the stones where they do not wish the birds to go; yet when they are flying high, a stone flung beneath them will bring them hurtling downward. Then, with loud cries, the watchers drive them toward the nets. The stone-slinging is the essence of the sport, and it requires strong muscles, a quick eye and a steady aim.

But the netting is also difficult. The man at the ropes is white and nervous; everything now depends upon him. If he releases the weight at the right moment, the net comes down instantly and the birds are bagged. A moment too soon, and they see the danger and avoid it; a moment too late and they pass in safety. It is a matter of an instant, and many more flocks escape than are taken.

The birds are gray and somewhat smaller than the domestic pigeon. They cannot be trained or tamed. The sport is far from being profitable, for even when they have good luck the pigeon catchers never take enough birds to pay for the elaborate preparation they have made. But the moment when the nets whirl down at Cava is a moment of rare excitement.

"War Time."

A novel memento of the great war is a clock, which is made from munitions—both enemy and allied—collected on the Somme battlefield by a soldier, who afterwards used them for this purpose. The body of the clock is a German shell-case, and German cartridges form the legs. Of the three cartridges on top of the timepiece, the two outside are German, and the one gracing the center French, while the two small ornaments between these are Belgian bullets. The side ornaments are made from Verey-light cases, pierced to admit of a British cartridge projecting through the top.

The pendulum consists of five French bullets, and the figures and hands are bent to shape from copper wire taken from German trenches.

To complete the whole, the clock movement inside is also of German make, and, after necessary repairs, is found to be entirely adequate.

Look to Africa for Food.

The world-wide shortage of food and the certainty that this shortage will continue in modified form for years to come has roused France to utilize more fully her great colonies just across the Mediterranean. Comprehensive plans are being formed—and started on the way to fulfillment—for refrigerating and packing plants in Algeria, so that the animals need not be shipped across the sea alive. These institutions, too, will give a much readier and steadier market than has been available hitherto, and that is probably all that is needed to quadruple the meat exports of North Africa.

SAVED BY MIRAGE

How British Army Escaped Defeat in Mesopotamia.

Turkish Commander Saw What He Believed Were Re-enforcements Coming to Aid Enemy and Ordered Retreat.

We went on toward nowhere, intending to make a wide detour and come into old Basra city by the Zobek gate in the south wall, Eleanor F. Egan writes in the Saturday Evening Post. There was no dust out there; only hard-packed sand, out of which the fierce hammering sun struck a myriad glinting, eye-searing sparks. But it was beautiful beyond words to describe. We spun along at fifty miles an hour with a cool, clean breeze in our faces. Then just over a slight rise in the sparkling plain I saw my first mirage. It was impossible to believe it was a mirage and not really the beautiful lake that it seemed—a lake dotted with wooded islands and fringed in places with deep green forests.

I have seen mirages in other deserts in other lands, but I have never seen anything like the Mesopotamian mirage. We drove straight on and it came so close that I was sure I could see a ripple on its surface. Then suddenly it went away off, and where it had been our skidproof tires were humming on the hard-packed sand and I saw that the wooded islands had been created out of nothing but patches of camel thorn and that the trees of the forests were tufts of dry grass not more than six inches high.

Off on the far horizon a camel caravan was swinging slowly along and the camels looked like some mammoth prehistoric beasts, while in another direction what we took to be camels turned out to be a string of diminutive donkeys under pack saddles laden with bales of the desert grass roots that the Arabs use for fuel.

The mirage has played an interesting part in the Mesopotamian campaigns. In some places, it is practically continuous the year round, and it adds greatly to the difficulties of an army in action. It is seldom mistaken for anything but what it is, of course, but it does curious things to distance and to objects both animate and inanimate. Incidentally it renders the accurate adjustment of gun ranges almost altogether impossible.

One of the most curious incidents of the whole war happened in connection with a mirage and on the very spot over which I drove that first day out in the desert.

The battle of Shalba was one of the hardest-fought battles in the whole Mesopotamian campaign and victory for a while was anybody's. It was going very badly for the British, their losses being heavier than they could stand for long. And though the Turks were in overwhelmingly superior numbers it was going very badly for them as well. This the British officer commanding did not realize and he was just on the point of giving an order for retirement—which would have been fatal to the British in Mesopotamia—when to his astonishment he discovered that the Turks were in full retreat! What a moment!

The desert was full of mirage and the Turkish commander—who really ought to have been more familiar with local phenomena—saw approaching from the southeast what looked to him like heavy re-enforcements. It was nothing but a supply and ambulance train magnified and multiplied by the deceptive desert atmosphere! When he ordered an immediate retreat his already unnerved troops stampeded and his demoralized rear guard was bounded and harassed by great bands of nomad Arabs all the way to Khamisayeh, nearly ninety miles away. He learned the truth a few days later and committed suicide!

Oliver Goldsmith Memorial.

At Auburn, County Athlone, Ireland, the poet's birthplace, a memorial is being erected to Oliver Goldsmith. It will take the form of the restoration of the church where the poet's father ministered so many years. Oliver Goldsmith was born in 1728 at Ballynahon, County Longford, and two years later his father, Charles Goldsmith, became rector of Kilkenny West and settled in Lissay, which is now known as Auburn. It is a village on the road between Athlone and Ballynahon. Auburn of Goldsmith's "Deserted Village" in some degree represents Lissay, and the story of an old eviction by General Napier was probably in Goldsmith's mind when he wrote the poem, although it is intended to apply to England.

Died at Post of Duty.

During the storms the early part of the year which marines say were the severest known on the coast, the United States navy suffered the loss of the big ocean-going tug Cherokee. This vessel was manned entirely by members of the naval reserve. Caught in a terrific sea the tug foundered and was lost. It was at this time on an important duty for the Washington navy yard to get guns to an Atlantic fort. Among the men who met a heroic death at this time was a Lieutenant (Junior grade), E. D. Newell, U. S. N. R. F., commanding officer.

Mrs. Sarah Miller is visiting relatives at Georgetown.
Miss Ann Malby, of Washington, is the guest of Mrs. A. S. Best.
Regular meeting of Unity Lodge No. 40, F. and A. M., at 8:00 p. m. to-day.
Miss Maude F. McGinnis and Pearl Plummer, of Paris, are guests of Miss Lula Thomas.
Miss Florence Vimont has returned after a week's visit to her sister, Mrs. W. A. Munsing, at Maysville.

Mr. J. W. Boulden returned to his home at Maysville, Friday, after spending several days with his niece, Mrs. A. S. Best.

Mr. W. M. Vimon, of Maysville, was the guest of his mother and sister, Mrs. Martha Vimont, and Miss Florence Vimont, Saturday and Sunday.

The funeral services will be held at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Fuhrman.

WELCH

Mrs. Carolyne Welch, aged 72, died at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. J. H. Fuhrman, yesterday morning at eight o'clock, of the infirmities of old age. Mrs. Welch is survived by five children, Mrs. J. H. Fuhrman, Mrs. John Chism, Mrs. Mary Johnson, Seattle, Wash.; Mr. John Welch, Montana, and Mr. Wm. Welch, of Bourbon county.

The funeral services will be held at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Fuhrman.

CAMPBELL

Mrs. Margaret Campbell, aged eighty-five, died at her home in Carlisle, Saturday. Mrs. Campbell was one of the oldest residents of Nicholas county. She was a native of Bourbon county, and moved to Nicholas county in 1836. She was a daughter of the late Abraham Banta. She was the mother of Mrs. Thos. I. Davis, and A. B. Campbell, both of Winchester; Wm. Preston Campbell, of Frankfort, and Claude M. Campbell, of Richmond, Va. The funeral was held at Carlisle yesterday, followed by interment in the Carlisle Cemetery.

MATHERS

In our issue of last Friday we noted the death in Carlisle of Mrs. Willis M. Mathers, mother of Dr. Harry Mathers, of Paris. The passing away of this excellent woman leaves a void in the family circle that cannot be filled until there is a happy reunion of all in the other world. She was a woman of intellectual attainments, a true example of Christian motherhood. The Carlisle Mercury pays the following tribute to Mrs. Mathers:

Mrs. Maria Mastin Mathers, wife of W. M. Mathers, of this city, died at her home on College Hill, Monday evening, at 7:30 o'clock, following a protracted illness from Bright's disease. Funeral services were held at the late residence Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and were conducted by the Rev. W. P. Crouch, pastor of the Carlisle Christian church. Interment took place in the Carlisle Cemetery. The departed had been in declining health for several years, but her condition did not become serious until about a week ago, when it was apparent that the end was near. Mrs. Mathers before her marriage to Mr. Mathers more than forty-two years ago was Miss Maria Mastin, daughter of Thomas and Minerva Mastin, who were natives of this county; she was born in March, 1849, and was therefore 69 years of age. Having lived her entire life in this community our people will remember her as a woman who lived for those who loved her and her memory will abide with her family and friends a benediction and a blessing. She was true to the obligations of her church—the Christian church—and she was true to the obligations of friendship, and was a woman of broad sympathies, sympathies as tender and as generous as her conception of her duty to humanity. Besides her husband she is survived by two sons, Dr. Harry Mathers, of Paris, and Mr. Albert Mathers, of Pittsburg, Pa. Dr. Mathers was with his mother when the end came, but Albert did not reach here until the evening following her death. The

Dr. and Mrs. W. M. Miller were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Renick, at Lexington, Thursday and Friday. They were accompanied home by their sons, Messrs. Wm. and Hart Miller, who were guests at the Renick home for several days.

Col. C. M. Best, Mr. Charles B. Layson, Jefferson V. Layson, Mrs. M. Layson, Zed Layson, Nancy Layson, Pauline Jones, Mrs. John Marr, Misses Marguerite Layson and Jane Marr, John Marr, Wm. Marr and A. C. Best compose a Millersburg party sojourning at Crab Orchard Springs.

MCARTHY

—After a lingering illness of many weeks, due partly to the after effects of nervous shock sustained in an automobile accident near Lexington, some time ago, Miss Mary Ann McCarthy, aged seventy-two, died at her residence on Walker avenue, at four o'clock, yesterday morning. Miss McCarthy had been a resident of Paris all her life, and died within short distance of the old home place where she spent her younger days.

Miss McCarthy was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John McCarthy, who were pioneer residents of Paris, residing for many years on what is now Williams street. She was the eldest of a large family of children, and after the death of Mrs. McCarthy became in truth "the elder sister and the guardian of the household." She was a sister of the late Mr. P. I. McCarthy and Mr. Charles McCarthy, both of whom preceded her to the grave many years ago. Miss McCarthy early in life developed a keen business talent and engaged in the book and stationery business in Paris, which she successfully conducted until her retirement a few years ago, selling out the business to the firm now operating as the Paris Book Company. She was a woman of decidedly keen intellect, rare business ability, and one whose human side was best to know to those who knew her best. She had a kindly nature, which manifested itself on many occasions in acts of unselfish devotion and kindness, and made the world better for having been a wholesome part of it. Her devotion to her younger brothers and sisters was always held up to the boys and girls of her neighborhood as an example of devotion to duty and a sinking of self in the aim to see to their welfare. She was faithful in every walk of life, and her reward is sure.

Miss McCarthy is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Agnes McCarthy Lawson, of San Francisco, Calif., and Miss Julia McCarthy, of this city; one nephew, Mr. John J. McCarthy, and one niece, Mrs. George McWilliams, of Paris, and the follow nephews and nieces residing elsewhere, all children of her brother, Mr. P. I. McCarthy: Chas. McCarthy and Frank McCarthy, both of Camp Zachary Taylor; Justin McCarthy, at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station, and Misses Mary and Margaret McCarthy, of Lexington.

The funeral will be held at the Church of the Annunciation, in this city, at nine o'clock to-morrow (Wednesday) morning, with services conducted by Rev. Father Eugene DeBruyn. The burial will follow on the family lot in the Catholic Cemetery.

NEW WATER DAM POSSIBILITY.

It is now believed that the vexatious problem of insuring the city of Paris against a threatened shortage of water supply will soon be settled, if plans now under way by the interested parties are brought to fulfillment.

For several months the old mill dam across Stoner Creek, at the point of the Paris Milling Company, which serves to back up the water which is pumped from the pumping station for the city of Paris, has been falling into a state of bad repair, and, in fact, almost to the point of giving way. Owing to a dispute as to ownership of the dam, and responsibility for repairing it, it has been impossible to get the interested parties together. They are the City of Paris, the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company, the Paris Water Company and the Paris Milling Company. No agreement could be reached by any of their representatives.

Quite recently plans have been evolved by the City of Paris, through Councilman John Merringer, of the special committee appointed by the City Council, and Mayor E. B. Janaway, looking to the building of a large dam at a point close to the L. & N. railroad bridge near the plant of the Paris Ice Manufacturing Co. This is about a half-mile from the old dam, and is said to be a splendid place for such a structure. Attorney John J. Williams has been employed by the special committee to assist the legal department of the city in the matter. Conferences will be held in the very near future between representatives of the interest involved, with the prospect of having the dam completed before the coming of winter.

MCCARTHY

—Evangelist E. O. Hobbs has gone to Southern Kentucky to hold a revival meeting. The meeting he has been conducting at Lair closed last week.

The Mission Circle of the Paris Christian church will hold their regular meeting in the church parlors this (Tuesday) afternoon at three o'clock. The Circle will meet Thursday in the Red Cross Sewing rooms.

Eld. Frank Tinder, Jr., son of Rev. F. M. Tinder, pastor of the North Middletown Christian church, is conducting a revival meeting at Hubble, Ky. Rev. Tinder will take up Y. M. C. A. work at Camp Zachary Taylor about Sept. 1.

—Rev. Owens, of Wilmore, filled his regular appointment at Centerville Methodist church Sunday morning and night.

—Rev. G. W. Tevis, of Cincinnati, evangelist, will begin a union gospel tent meeting in this city, beginning to-morrow (Wednesday) night, at eight o'clock. The tent for the purpose has been erected on the Cen-den lot on Pinecrest Avenue, (the old Bourbon College grounds.) Everybody invited to attend.

MATRIMONIAL

—WORTHINGTON—TILLETT.

—A marriage license was issued in Lexington, Saturday afternoon, to George Tillet and Miss Zagilda May Worthington, both of Paris. They were married in Lexington. The groom is employed as a car repairer on the Louisville and Nashville at this point.

GROWING TOBACCO IN CITY.

—Perhaps one of the most advanced crops of tobacco in this county is that which is being grown on a lot on High street, in this city, by Cassius Crow. It is about half-an-acre, and stands as high as a man's head. The tobacco, which is now being cut, is of an excellent quality. Mr. James McClure is growing a fine crop of tobacco in a large lot in the rear of his residence, facing on Scott avenue. The weed is of an excellent quality, and will soon be ready for the barn.
